

ASCO TETTER

"Merely Mary Ann" at Columbia, and "The Highwayman" at National.

Zangwill's masterpiece, has attained the position of a modern classic under the masterful characterization of Eleanor Robson, who for some seasons past has found in it a never ceasing supply of fame and revenue. Only pre-existing contracts to produce another play have made it possible for this delightful comedy to be available for stock work. "Merely Mary Ann" has to its credit one of the longest runs ever attained in New York city.

The play will be staged in the most appropriate manner, every stick of scenery being specially constructed and painted for this production.

CHASE'S—Vaudeville.

Chase's next week will bring to an end its current polite vaudeville season. Nat M. Wills will present a new act of original and exclusive parodies, songs, and sayings of the choicest Wills brand. The supplementary leading feature will be Eva Taylor and her players, offering the merriest farcical comedy. "Chums," by arrangement with Charles Frohman, a sensational number will be the electrical wizard, Volta, in demonstrations of extraordinary power and currents of high voltage, combined with comic and spectacular incidents of laughable import.

Herman Meyer, one of the latest "hands" in the world of novelty, will offer a musical extravaganza, introducing imitations of instruments, four-voiced vocalism, and grand opera travesty.

ACADEMY—Rose Melville in "Sis Hopkins."

The story of "Sis Hopkins," with its scenes laid in Posey county, Ind., at the old Hopkin's home, is one of unusual public pathos.

Being intimately associated with the love of "Sis," the Midwestern girl, it has an added charm and the tale is told in a natural and unconventional manner. Miss Rose Melville, who plays the part of "Sis," is a girl of 25, a week, originated the character and has made of it one of the classics of the stage. Her assuming acceptance of the love of a man whose deceit is apparent to every eye but the girl's, is pathetic; yet, when she awakens to his duplicity, the punishment she metes out to him is swift and sure.

Miss Melville is surrounded this season by a company which is said to surpass in individual ability any supporting organization which she has previously had.

NATIONAL—Lamb's All-Star Gambol.

Definite announcement has finally been made regarding the forthcoming Lamb's All-Star Gambol, to be given at the National Theater here on the afternoon of May 27.

The performance is to begin promptly at 2 o'clock. The advance sale of tickets will be at 25c, and will close at 5c. The National Theater on the evening of May 27, promptly at 5 o'clock. Such distinguished personages as Lew Hoad, Dickson, McGraw, Hopper, William Collier, Wilton Lackaye, Marie Dressler and Anna Held, with several other well-known names of the United States Senate, will conduct the auction for the Lamb's, and indications are that the auction sale will draw a large audience and the performance of May 27.

An interesting item in connection with the gambol is the announcement that George Hamlin, of Chicago, will sing "Then You'll Remember Me." Those who have heard Mr. Hamlin sing this ballad will recall a peculiar brilliancy which he lends it owing to the remarkable strength of his notes. George Leon Moore, who has one of the sweetest tenor voices on the stage, will sing "Sweet Genevieve," a number that will appeal to theatergoers who have seen William Hodge in "The Man from Home," and recall the incident of the play. The evening will sing "Annie Laurie," William Stewart will sing another old-time favorite, "Her Bright Star," and will sing "The Bright Star." The program for all these songs was made by Victor Herbert, vice president of the Lamb's Club, and some of the most beautiful and effective achieved by the double octet which forms the supporting chorus.

CHASE'S—Miss Shreve's Carnival.

The annual appearance of Miss Cora B. Shreve and her juvenile dancers will occur at Chase's Theater, May 27, 28, and 29.

George Thompson, the stage manager for Miss Shreve, reports splendid progress at rehearsals. The annual dancing carnival given by Miss Shreve is one of the most noted in this country. La Petite Anna Katherine McGraw, Gladys Wilkinson, and Ina Claire were given prominent engagements as the result of clever dancing and singing here. The sight of nearly a hundred children in spectacular trapezoidal ensembles is one of the events of a theater year in Washington.

This year Miss Shreve's entertainment will be known as "The Flowers Serenade," and will combine with songs and recitations, fancy dancing of the most difficult and artistic character.

LUNA PARK PLANS FOR A NEW SEASON

Announcement was made today that Luna Park will soon be open to heat-stricken citizens of Washington.

Mr. Goodfellow has been at the park for some weeks directing preparation for the opening and the partial reconstruction of Luna Park. A small army of workmen are rushing through the alterations and the erection of new buildings at this popular resort. Over $4,000 is being spent in repainting every building, stilt, and piece of apparatus on the grounds. The new season will show practically a new Luna Park, more attractive than ever, a fairland of Oriental design and a setting in a picturesque background of sylvan beauty—leafy woods and open views of water and luscious, green, undulating green fields.

A feature of the resort this season will be free admission through the park gates at week days. This will prove an innovation when it is learned how many big attractions and amusements will be open to all patrons without charge. These will include big outdoor circus acts, commencing with a world-famous acrobat, who will make sensational parachute drops never seen here before. The American Regimental Band will give daily concerts from the Hippodrome stage.

The feature for Sunday afternoons and nights will be sacred orchestral concerts, and between these selections will be heard for the first time here the famous Autoharp, which gives realistic representations of the singing of such grand old stars as Caruso, Scotti, Melba, Mary Garden, Geraldine Farrar, and Mme. Tetrazzini.

Route of the Times-News Intercity Marathon Race to Be Run on June 12

PRESERVE THIS MAP UNTIL DAY OF RUN. IT WILL NOT BE PUBLISHED AGAIN.

HIRING RACE EXPERT IS APPROVED BY ALL

Athletes Indorse Action of The Times in Bringing Here Thomas E. Burke to Advise Inter-City Marathon Runners.

Arrangements made by The Times for expert advice of the well-known runner, Thomas E. Burke, for all men training for the intercity Marathon, received hearty indorsement on every hand this morning.

One well-known athlete who is fitting himself to run on June 12, said: "It shows that The Times is conducting this Marathon to benefit athletics and not solely as an advertisement for the newspaper. Mr. Burke's record as an athlete is well known all over the world, and his knowledge and experience made available to the runner should prove invaluable during the training period."

Mr. Burke arrived in Washington this morning, having left Boston last night, and was early at The Times office to discuss the best way and best time for adding the contestants.

After viewing the conditions from all sides it was decided to adopt the following plan:

Mr. Burke will write daily an article on training and particularly such features of training as he finds most need in the case of the local men. In addition to this, he will write daily an article on training and particularly such features of training as he finds most need in the case of the local men. CANOEISTS PLAN A MINSTREL SHOW

Percy Leach in Charge of Entertainment at Chase's Theater.

Percy F. Leach has taken active charge of the rehearsals for the third annual minstrel show of the Washington Canoe Club, to be given at Chase's Theater on the evenings of May 21 and June 1.

The Washington Canoe Club Minstrel Show, "The Man from Home," is the title of the production, which will include one scene in Japan and another, "In Africa With Roosevelt." It will be a combination of the old-time minstrel show and a unique musical comedy. The music was composed by Ben Judson and the libretto and lyrics are from the pen of L. F. Eberbach, both of whom are members of the club.

The music is catchy and tuneful, and the jokes are said to be new.

Felix Mahoney will impersonate Colonel Roosevelt in Africa, and when it comes to doing jungle stunts he is just as "rough and ready" as any of our ex-presidents in Africa.

The production will be given under the general supervision of Odell Whipple, president of the club, and the immediate direction of the minstrel committee, of which Brooke Amos is chairman. The other members of the committee are T. Arthur Snider, business manager; R. G. Searle, secretary; Felix Mahoney, art director; L. F. Eberbach, librettist; Ben Judson, musical director, and Dr. Willis N. Fomeroy, property man.

PROGRAM TONIGHT FOR THE THEATERS

The Sunday concert at the Academy offers a pleasing diversion to those seeking entertainment on the day of rest. The program is a varied one, entirely changed each Sunday, and consists of two hours of comedy and dramatic motion pictures, interspersed with excellent vocal numbers by clever entertainers.

The soloists engaged for tonight are Walter Sondheimer, Lee Summers, and George Turner.

Pictures said to be worth seeing are booked for tonight's concert at the Gayety.

The Boat Hunt, Between Two Fires, The Bad Man of the West, The Fan of Japan, and other feature films will be presented.

Injudicious Use of Drugs In Dentistry

It is well to remember that the "cheap" dentist rests his "painless" claims on drugs instead of dental skill. The conservative dentist—the reliable dentist—does not "pump" cocaine or poisonous drugs into the mouths of patients in order that he may present himself for treatment.

RUNNERS WILL USE BEACH BATH HOUSE

Permission was granted today by Dr. W. B. Hudson for the use of the bath house at the bathing beach by runners who wish to train on the Speedway for the Intercity Marathon.

This action will solve the problem of a number of inter-town soccer football games which are featured in the athletic year in rural England. I know from the interest and sharp the feeling is in those contests, and I can see no reason why the Times-News should not awaken the same sort of spirit in Washington and Baltimore. I want every man who is planning to run to consider me especially engaged in his advice and assistance. I will during my stay to devote my best knowledge and judgment to every inquiry.

Questions have been forthcoming regarding the announcement yesterday that the Riverside Athletic Club and the Washington Grove A. C. would enter men. Both these clubs, while they have their headquarters in Maryland, number among their members men who live in Washington. It is these men who will compete in The Times run. The best race will be exercised to make the Marathon a strictly intercity event, and men must establish their right as bona fide residents of one city or the other, as well as their amateur standing before they may enter.

Arrangements were also completed this morning for the medical examination of athletes before entering the race. This precaution is taken primarily for the protection of the athletes, and it should be a satisfaction to them to know that the three members of the medical committee, Dr. S. H. Greene, Jr., Dr. Charles S. White, and Dr. L. H. McConnell. These men will be taken to Laurel on the day of the race and will there subject every entrant to a thorough physical examination before they enter the run.

The Times will afford athletes every opportunity to gain a clear idea of the course. In addition to the map published today, an automobile with a representative of this paper and The Times photographer will be sent over the route next week. An accurate description of the course as well as the going will be given, accompanied by pictures of turns in the road likely to be confusing. The map published today should be cut out and saved for the day of the run.

FAN MAKES TALK ABOUT TEAM

Wants Infield Shifted and Unglaub Captain—Swats Cantillon and Clymer.

Washington, May 8, 1933.

Sporting Editor, The Times:

In regard to a piece in a recent issue of your paper as to the betterment of the Nationals, I would like to make a few suggestions.

It is very evident that there is something wrong with the team and some changes should be made, and the fans cannot be blamed for knocking it. While it is true that there are a number of players on the local team who would be considered stars on a winning team, it appears that some changes should be made and some inside brail played once in a while. In my opinion, Bob Unglaub should be substituted for Del at second base and Del put in rightfield and Freeman back at first. Del lets a number of his best hits go through him. Unglaub would most likely get. Del would not have so much to do in right field and it might improve his hitting, which needs it. Clymer does not seem to be of much use to the team, as he cannot field or throw at all, in fact, is about the worst in the league in that line; neither is he doing much hitting, which is supposed to be his specialty. He is what you might call a "batter," but though he never has played anything extra in Washington, he is lazy and plays ball like he is tired, and never exerts himself.

Bob Gantley is playing ball like he did when he first came to Washington and is certainly a good man, the best outfielder we have. The infield with Unglaub and Freeman would be strengthened considerably and with Unglaub and Freeman might make a good team. I think, and no doubt a good many fans think likewise, as Cantillon is one of the worst of managers. He has been three years and he has never shown anything in the manager line, although he has constructed a good team and should be given credit for it, but he does not seem to get much out of it, and then again he has his fishing trips, etc., to attend to.

This is the opinion of a fan who would like to see the team win some games, and a good showing. Perhaps it is true that an outside paper said that with a first class manager Washington would have a good chance for the pennant.

Respectfully, A FAN.

JEFF WILL START OUTDOOR RUNNERS

NEW YORK, May 9.—Big Jim Jeffries will start the outdoor runners in the games of the Nationals, which will be held at Celtic Park, in Long Island, today. The retired champion, who may some day fight Jack Johnson for the world's title, will act as starter for the two feature races at the games, having obtained the consent of the National Amateur Athletic Union. Jim will fire the pistol that will send the Hamilton and Mel Sheppard away for a heart-breaking race of 200 yards, and as well also start the modified Marathon of fifteen miles.

ENTRIES FOR CONTEST TO CLOSE TOMORROW

Reliability Test Proves Popular With Washington Autoists—Current News and Gossip Cleaned From Local Garages.

General interest in the reliability contest which is being promoted by the Washington Automobile Club is now at its height and entries are coming in daily for the big run which starts the morning of May 15.

Never since the sealed bonnet contest promoted by The Times have local automobile circles been stirred to the present extent and there is every indication that the coming run will offer a worthy comparison with the run promoted by this paper and decreed by all to be the best that was ever pulled off in the city.

Secretary John Heyl has not yet received the full quota of entries, but judging from the number already received the event will be patronized by even more autoists than was at first expected. Tomorrow evening at midnight the entries will close.

Raymond H. Jackson, for the last few years connected with the Cook & Stoddard Company, of this city, is now with the Packard Company, in Boston.

Claude Miller, one of the Ford agents in this city, is at present in Detroit, where he went to hasten shipments on the new model cars which have proved so popular in Washington. He will return early this week.

V. L. Edmunds, who represents the Reo Company in Virginia, was in the city for a few days last week, and says the Reo car is enjoying unlimited popularity in that section. Lester D. Moore, the Southern agent for that type, reports a similar condition throughout his territory.

One of the late model Chalmers-Detroit roadsters was received by the Motor Car Company, the local agents, during the past week, and is attracting considerable interest. This type has proved extremely popular with the Northern autoists.

Cook & Stoddard are daily expecting a shipment from the Cadillac factory. Prompt deliveries will be made on the Northern autoists.
